ASSETS, DEC. 31, 1918: Cash, $6,952; investments, $24,024; premiums and assessments uncollected, $68,140; other assets, $2,530; total adm. assets, $101,646. Liabilities: Losses unpaid, $5,483; other liabilities, $2,575; total liabilities, $8,058.

Net amount of premium notes, Dec. 31, $90,298.

MISCELLANEOUS: Besides the assets listed, the company has $77,663 of premium notes, and $2,464 of office equipment.

REMARKS: Most of the assets of this company consist of balances in hands of agents, premiums and assessments in course of collection, and premium notes, with office equipment valued at $2,464 but not here listed among the company's assets, the balance being cash in bank, $12,461, and investments, $100. As its loss payments in 1916 exceeded $61,000, or an average of over $5,000 per month, it does not seem that the immediately available assets of the company would carry it through many months without the collection of a considerable amount of premiums and assessments. The company did not report an unearned premium fund on December 31 last.

MISCELLANEOUS: This company was originally organized as the Minnesota Mutual Fire, but late in 1906 the Minnesota Retail Implement Dealers Association having decided to organize a mutual, found that it could acquire the Minnesota Mutual, and hence took it, rather than form a new concern. The name was then changed to the Retail Implement Dealers Mutual. In 1913, the name was changed to the Minnesota Implement Mutual.

REMARKS: It will be noted that practically all of this company's cash assets are represented by equity in real estate and outstanding balances. Also that the company reports no unearned premium reserve. While the real estate owned is valued at $91,000 it is subject to a mortgage of $51,000. Without questioning the intrinsic worth of the real estate, it is not always easy to dispose of such property, when money is required, at its real value. The company has found it necessary to borrow money, which points to the desirability of its investments being in more liquid form than real estate.

UNLICENSED AMERICAN FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES

In this division there was previously presented information concerning American fire insurance companies which were not licensed by the State insurance officials of the State in which the companies were respectively (nominally) domiciled, to conduct insurance business therein. Concerns of this type commonly make broad claims as to the possession of liberal amounts of assets; but as they did not file sworn reports with any State insurance officials, their claimed resources were not subject to scrutiny or verification by any public official. In the absence of such verification, it is usually safe to assume that the assets claimed are either imaginary, or are not owned by the company and are not available for the payment of claims against it. Occasionally a company based upon an old or special charter claims among its privileges thereunder immunity from supervision by the State insurance official of its home State. While such a claim may be made in good faith by an honestly managed company, so many similar claims have been made in the past by concerns which subsequently failed disastrously, that any company failing to report regularly to the State insurance department of its own State is now looked upon with suspicion until it has made some indubitable demonstration of its good faith and its ability and willingness to pay its just debts. As a general rule, it is safer to avoid companies which are unwilling to submit to a proper degree of supervision by duly constituted State authorities, or which are unable to secure the license required to be obtained before doing business. However, there are numerous companies which are regularly licensed in one or more States, and which write some policies upon properties located in other States in which they are not licensed. These companies may be perfectly reliable, financially, being willing to accept a few "surplus lines" in certain States, but not desiring to do a general business therein, and hence not caring to go to the expense of establishing agency plants. As they are licensed in one or more States, even though writing an occasional risk in States in which they are not licensed, such companies cannot be classified as "unlicensed," and will be found listed in other divisions.

UNLICENSED COMPANIES SUPPOSED TO HAVE CEASED BUSINESS.

Below will be found a list of fire insurance companies which were not licensed by State Insurance Departments, and which are supposed to have ceased business.

LLOYDS AND RECIPROCAL UNDERWRITERS ASSOCIATIONS

Aside from the Lloyds and inter-insurance associations located in New York State, and which are required to file sworn annual statements with the Insurance Department, there are some which report to other State insurance departments, but a number of such associations do not report to any State Insurance Department. Those which do not report must be judged in accordance with the character and past record of their managers, in conjunction with the financial standing and reputation of the underwriters. The subscribers usually assuming obligations for specified amounts in addition to any initial deposits which they may have made—and in some cases assuming an unlimited additional liability—much depends upon the responsibility of the underwriters, as well as upon their punctuality in meeting obligations. As the liability assumed is individual, and not joint (with one or two exceptions), it is essential to the value of a policy in its entirety that each and every underwriter subscribing thereto shall be good for his share of the aggregate insurance; for if one underwriter proves to be unable to pay his share, it cannot be recovered from the others. The character of the management also counts for a great deal in estimating the value of a Lloyds policy; for, although the Lloyds may have a strong list of underwriters a reckless or plunging manager may involve the concern so deeply in losses that the latter would greatly exceed the maximum liability of the underwriters, with consequent loss to the insured. In the past, Lloyds policies have been sold whose underwriters were, in some cases, found to be transient occupants of cheap lodging houses, who cheerfully assumed an unlimited future liability for a five-dollar bill in hand, and would throw in an affidavit that the subscriber was worth one million dollars! Some of the "securities" claimed by certain fraudulent concerns had as little tangible value as the affidavits referred to. These matters are merely cited to indicate the importance of investigating the character and standing of Lloyds associations and companies before accepting and relying upon their policy contracts. There are Lloyds and inter-insurance associations in business to-day which have long and honorable records, and whose policies may be accepted with confidence. Careful discrimination should be exercised between such associations and those which may be classed as totally irresponsible, or those which habitually scale their loss payments.

MANUFACTURERS EXCHANGE, Chicago, Ill.

This association is in process of organization and will specialise n writing fire insurance on manufacturing plants throughout the ountry. It is being financed by the Interinsurers Management Company in which C. B. Chadwick, president of the Bankers Supply Co. of Chicago and other large manufacturers are reported o be interested. The plan under which the exchange proposes to operate is substantially as follows:

It will write manufacturing risks and will start out with lines of either $50,000 or $100,000 on each risk. It will not start until it has between two and three hundred such risks. The tentative application blank that is being used contains some unusual stipulations. It provides that these stipulations shall be a part of the policy contract and that not only the management of the exchange but of the managing company shall be in the hands of a committee of policyholders elected by the members of the exchange. The committee of policyholders shall be trustees for the fund, shall guide the underwriting policy of the exchange, and shall supervise the disbursement of all funds.

The exchange's plan of operation is different from that of any other exchange. It will collect on issuance of policies 60 percent of the stock company's rates and pay 15 percent of the stock rate for expenses. Six months later another deposit will be called sufficient to replenish the initial deposit and to pay 10 percent of the stock rate for additional expenses. The New York standard form of policy will be issued and all contracts will be issued for periods of three years, with provision that they may be cancelled at any time with the return of the unexpended deposit credited to the policyholder, and that this unexpended deposit, whatever it may be at the expiration of the policy, is returnable.

BUSINESS SINCE 1906: Premiums received, $2,118,498; losses paid, $1,487,603; dividends declared, cash, $129,209.

MISCELLANEOUS: Formed as Underwriters at Mutual Lloyds, the word "Lumber" was prefixed July 9, 1900, and on December 31, 1906, the words "at Mutual Lloyds" were eliminated. As its name indicated, this association makes a specialty of lumber and woodworking risks. The chief parties in interest are identified with the National Wholesale Lumber Dealers' Association. There is deposited by underwriters $100,000, of wnich $37,500 is treated as capital and the balance as surplus. Each of the fifteen underwriters has deposited $6,666, making a total of $100,000, but owing to the strictness of the New York Insurance Law, which does not allow credit for reinsurance in unauthorized companies and does not permit any impairment, however slight, of the deposits which are regarded as equivalent of capital, the Lumber Underwriters only reports as deposits (that is, the equivalent of capital) the sum of $37,500, considering the remaining $62,500 as surplus. In New York State, therefore, the Lumber Underwriters reports but $37,500 as deposits of underwriters; whereas, according to the custom of other States, the deposits would be considered as $100,000. The attorney, under the form of agreement, is permitted to call upon the underwriters for $100,000 each additional in case of the $100,000 deposit becoming impaired. In the event of sufficient impairment he is to call together the executive committee. The attorney advises us that the underwriters assume unlimited liability, that is, in the event of loss sufficient to take the $100,000 and accumulated surplus in excess, each underwriter is liable to lose his entire fortune according to the policies upon which he may be an underwriter. This company was formerly known as The Lumber Underwriters, New York.

MISCELLANEOUS: This in an inter-insurance organization, established April 1, 1907, writing on properties protected by automatic sprinkler equipments. The risks are underwritten by the members in pro rata amounts by each of them, without joint liability. The underwriting agreements stipulates that the maximum risk and the maximum insurance in any city block shall be limited to an amount of which the proportion assumed by each member shall not be in excess of the sum denominated in his subscription; also that no policies shall be issued whereby a member's obligations for losses arising from a conflagration shall exceed three times his subscription. The sum of $2,000 (not a cash deposit) is denominated a member's subscription. Members must be rated by commercial agencies at not less than $100,000. The maximum line on any single risk, or in any city block, is $150,000, and each member's underwriting thereof is a proportionately reduced sum as compared to his subscription and continues to be reduced by acquisition of additional members, in lieu of the latter increasing the maximum policy issued. The policies are written at the insurance companies' prevailing rates for the risks, less an allowance of twenty-five (25) per cent. from premiums. Excess of a member's proportion of premium incomes over his proportion of losses is at the option of the trustees refundable to him annually to the extent of $200 per annum, pending accumulation of a stipulated reserve, when the entire excess above such reserve is refundable annually. If a member's proportion of the premiums fails to cover his proportion of the losses, he is required to make a deposit of the deficiency. Further underwriting on behalf of a member must be discontinued upon his notice to the managers to that effect, and a retiring member's existing underwritings on policies in force, may at his option be continued to expiration or terminated within thirty days by transfer thereof to his associate members, whereupon the amount to the retiring member's credit is refundable to him. The funds are in the custody of trustees elected annually and who have supervision over the management. Policies covering against loss by sprinkler leakage are also issued by this organization.

UNLICENSED FOREIGN FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANIES

In the following pages will be found information relating to foreign fire and marine insurance companies which are known or reported to be writing insurance upon American risks, either directly, through brokers, or by reinsurance arrangements with admitted companies, although we believe that none of them is licensed to transact fire or marine insurance in any of the United States. Few of these companies have any funds in this country, aside from premium balances, none of them, we believe, having a deposit with a State insurance department. The statements presented in this division are, therefore, abstracted from the companies' home office reports, which embrace their transactions in all countries. Care should be taken, when purchasing surplus insurance from foreign unadmitted companies, to deal only with those whose American correspondents are reputable and reliable, and who may be depended upon to safeguard, as far as possible, the interests of American policyholders. As it is necessary, in case of the non-payment of a loss by such a company, to sue the company at its home office (unless it voluntarily submits to the jurisdiction of American courts), it is obvious that, even if such a suit is successful, it is likely to prove a long, wearisome and expensive proceeding. In the case of a policy guaranteed by several companies, a separate suit would have to be entered at the home office of each company. Under these circumstances, it is well to insist upon having some prior knowledge not only as to the company's responsibility at home, but also of the ability and willingness of its American correspondent to meet current losses without undue delay or litigation, before accepting the policy of such a company. Owing to the War, it has been difficult, and in some cases impossible, to secure late and accurate information as to companies listed in this department some of which have temporarily suspended business in the United States.

LLOYD'S, London, Eng.

Organised, 1726. Incorporated by Act of Parliament 1871.

Secretary, Rear-Admiral Sir Edward Fitzmaurice Inglefield, K.B.E.

Lloyd's is an association of underwriters in the City of London. Its name is derived from a Coffee House kept by Edward Lloyd in Tower st. in the 17th century, where underwriters met to transact business. In 1692 Lloyd's Coffee House was removed from Tower st. to Lombard st.; and in 1774 Lloyd's left the Coffee House in Lombard st. for premises in the Royal Exchange, where it has since remained. The war, which lasted from 1775 with but short pauses till 1815, tended to attract marine insurance to Great Britain from all parts of the world, and raised Lloyd's to the high position it has since held.

In 1810, parliament appointed a committee to inquire into the affairs of the institution. From this inquiry Lloyd's emerged with credit, and has continued to assist in the promotion of every measure which might aid in the preservation of life at sea, the prevention of fraud in connection with marine insurance, and the rapid collection and distribution of maritime intelligence.

In 1871, Lloyd's was incorporated by act of parliament; but does not, as a corporation, undertake insurance business. This is conducted solely by its members on their own account; and so long as they conform to the rules of the society, they are free to follow their individual views. Lloyd's is, in fact, a great market for insurance. Candidates for election as members are required to satisfy the committee as to their means, and in all cases to deposit in the names of trustees a sum not less than £5,000, as additional security for liabilities incurred on account of marine and transport risks. The aggregate amount thus placed at the disposal of the committee of Lloyd's is very large, but in no way represents the total capital possessed by the Underwriting Members of Lloyd's. The committee have also adopted a system under which a separate guarantee, applicable only to claims on fire policies, and other policies not covering marine and transport risks, is required from members on their admission, and members who engage in such business, and who were elected before the adoption of this system, have generally furnished similar security. A system has also been instituted under which all underwriting monies are held in trust for underwriting purposes only, and underwriters' accounts are annually audited by approved accountants, who certify as to the solvency of the underwriter. The business of Lloyd's as a corporation, and of the committee as its executive, is to conduct the affairs of Lloyd's in its corporate capacity, and to guard, as trustees, the corporate funds and property.

Lloyd's is also an immense organisation for the collection and distribution of marine intelligence, which is published daily in "Lloyd's List." This paper, originally established in 1696 as "Lloyd's News," dates from 1726, and is the oldest newspaper in Europe, with the exception of the "London Gazette." The intelligence department has developed continually under the influence of steam and electricity, and this process keeps pace with the opening of new ports and the increased means of communication. The information is supplied by Lloyd's agents on every coast in the world, who, in written lists, or by telegram, report the arrival and departure of, and casualties to, vessels within their districts. In this connection the value of Lloyd's Signal Stations is very great, not only to underwriters, but also to merchants and shipowners, as it is frequently an advantage that a vessel should be intercepted off the coast and ordered to its port of destination. Shipowners in this way often have the earliest intimation of the arrival of their ships. Vessels arriving off outlying signal stations often bring important intelligence as to derelicts and wrecks passed on their voyages, as well as information of vessels in distress requiring assistance, and overdue vessels arriving on long voyages are reported at these stations. Not one vessel in ten, bound to ports in the United Kingdom from distant ports, arrives at her terminal port without first being reported from one of Lloyd's signal stations. At some of these stations wireless telegraphy apparatus has been installed. The corporation of Lloyd's now holds a similar position with regard to signal stations to that occupied by the corporation of the Trinity House with regard to lighthouses. These valuable aids in the preservation of life and property are one of the latest developments of the corporation.

Recent English legislation requires all underwriters as well as insurance companies transacting such business to provide security for various classes of insurance, such as life, fire, accident, employers' liability and bond investment.

The Assurance Companies Act, 1909, relates to these classes of insurance, and although the Act did not begin to operate until July 1, 1910, the majority of Underwriters at Lloyd's had already complied with its requirements before that date, and for years past have provided such security as is now legally necessary in connection with the class of business they transact.

The Employers' Liability Insurance Companies Act, 1907 which came into operation on January 1, 1908, provided that every underwriter shall deposit and keep deposited, in such manner as the Board of Trade may direct, a sum of £2,000, and, further, that when the business transacted exceeds this amount, the underwriter must increase the security correspondingly, and furnish accounts annually to the Board of Trade exactly in the same manner as the companies transacting similar business. This deposit has been provided by all members of Lloyd's who engage in this class of insurance business. This Act was incorporated in the Assurance Companies Act, 1909.

By these Acts Lloyd's is recognised by the Board of Trade as a regular market for fire and other non-marine insurance business, and the fact of such recognition is regarded as a guarantee of the soundness of the business transacted at Lloyd's.

Various groups of Lloyd's underwriters accept fire insurance risks in the United States through different brokerage houses in the United States. Claims under such policies are usually settled without difficulty, although if suit should become necessary, each underwriter would have to be sued in the English courts, unless all should agree to abide by the decision of the suit against a single underwriter, which is the usual custom. Policies written by Lloyd's underwriters upon American risks generally contain warranty that some specified company carries a given line on the same risk at the same rate and in the same form. Property owners in the United States who accept Lloyd's policies should therefore be careful to see that all warranties in such policies are properly observed.

The form of fire policy used by Lloyd's underwriters is as follows:

"LLOYD'S FIRE POLICY.

BE IT KNOWN THAT

paid Premium or Consideration to Us, who have hereunto subscribed our Names to Insure from Loss or Damage by Fire and/or Lightning.

From the day of
To the day of

NOW KNOW YE, that we the insurers do hereby bind ourselves, each for his own Part, and not One for Another, our Heirs, Executors, Administrators and Assigns, to pay or make good to the said Assured, their Heirs, Executors, Administrators and Assigns, all such Damage and Loss by Fire and/or Lightning, within seven days after such loss is proved; and that in proportion to the several sums by each of us subscribed against our respective Names, not exceeding the respective Sums aforesaid; as may happen to the subject matter of this insurance, or any part thereof, during the continuance of this policy.

If the assured shall make any claim knowing the same to be false or fraudulent as regards amount or otherwise, this Policy shall become void, and all claim thereunder shall be forfeited.

IN WITNESS whereof We, Underwriting Members of Lloyd's, have subscribed our Names and Sums of Money by us Insured.

Dated in London, the Day of
One Thousand Nine Hundred and "

A considerable number of insurance brokerage firms in New York and Chicago have heretofore had arrangements with various groups of underwriters at Lloyd's, London, whereby they could procure insurance upon American risks, but it is understood that some of such arrangements have been altered or terminated, so that at the time this page went to press it was not feasible to present a list of brokers through whom insurance at Lloyd's, London, could be procured.

Conflagration losses: Baltimore, 1904, $147,500; San Francisco, 1906, estimated, $3,000,000 (all underwriters).

As bogus Lloyd's, London, policies have been offered in this country, care should be taken to deal only with reliable houses when procuring such insurance.

The State Insurance Department of Illinois requires various groups of underwriters licensed in that State to file, as a part of their annual statements, data concerning their entire business in the United States, together with a certificate from the proper official of the Board of Trade in London, England, to the effect that each group has complied with the laws of the United Kingdom governing such Lloyd's associations.

STANDARD SHORT RATE SCALE FOR COMPUTING EARNED PREMIUMS

AS ADOPTED BY NATIONAL BOARD OF FIRE UNDERWRITERS.

This table has been adopted for use in territory covered by the following named organizations: Eastern Union, New England Insurance Exchange, Underwriters Association of the Middle Department, Underwriters Association of the District of Columbia, Board of Fire Underwriters of Allegheny County (Pa.), Philadelphia Fire Underwriters Association, Philadelphia Suburban Underwriters Association, Association of Fire Underwriters of Baltimore and Insurance Association of Providence (R. I.), and also for use in Arkansas, New Jersey and Texas.

The National Board Table with a few slight variations is also used in South-Eastern Underwriters Association territory. It has been adopted by the Western Union and the Western Insurance Bureau for use in their jurisdictions in states where the standard term rule has been in effect for one year, embracing all states except Iowa.

RULE.—Take the percentage indicated in scale opposite the period the risk is to run on the premium for the year or term at the given rate, and the result will be the premium to be retained in case of cancellation, or to be charged in case of short risk.

EXPLANATION.—When a company cancels a policy it returns pro rata premium. When a policyholder cancels, this table is used, so that the company shall only return the pro rata premium less the expense of getting the business.

A bill affecting foreign fire insurance companies transacting business in Chile was passed by the National Congress, and went into effect in December, 1905. The bill divides fire companies into first and second class; those with a capital of 500,000 pesos ($182,500) and more belong to the former, and those with a capital of less than that sum to the latter. In estimating the capital of a company the reserve and accumulated funds will be considered as capital. Fire companies of the first class will be required to deposit 300,000 pesos ($109,500) and those of the second class 200,000 pesos (73,000). Companies insuring against maritime and agricultural risks exclusively will be required to deposit 50,000 pesos ($18,250). The deposits may be invested in unencumbered real estate in Chili, in currency or sterling, or in bonds of institutions accepted by the President of the Republic.

NOTABLE CONFLAGRATIONS IN THE WORLD'S HIST

Even before men began to congregate and build cities, there existed the danger of forest fires; but these, except in a minor way, were not especially destructive of other prop cities had been built and many thousands of people came to be housed within a small area of fire and its capacity for doing harm to men and their property were greatly augmented; increased in size, the fire hazard and the accumulated values subject to destruction were spondingly multiplied. During the last four thousand years many cities have been swept b of them several times; and some have been practically obliterated. Below will be found a li from various sources, of some of the more important fires of history, comprising those because of the values or lives destroyed, or for some peculiar reason. The list of fires European war in 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917 and 1918 is necessarily incomplete:

Provided always that a breach of this warranty shall not afford underwriters any defense to a claim by mortgagees or other third parties who may have accepted this policy without notice of such breach of warranty, nor shall it restrict the right of the Assured and/or their managers to insure in addition General Average and/or Salvage Disbursements whilst at risk.

Touching the Adventures and Perils which we, the said Assurers, are contented to bear and take upon us, they are of the Seas, Men-of-War, Fire, Enemies, Pirates, Rovers, Thieves, Jettisons, Letters of Mart and Counter-Mart, Surprisals, Takings at Sea, Arrests, Restraints and Detainments of all Kings, Princes and Peoples, of what nation, condition or quality soever, Barratry of the Master and Mariners, Explosions, Riots, or other causes of whatsoever nature arising either on shore or otherwise, causing Loss of or injury to the Property hereby insured, and of all other Perils, Losses, and Misfortunes that have or shall come to the Hurt, Detriment, or Damage of the said Ship, etc., or any part thereof. And in case of any Loss or Misfortune, it shall be lawful for the Assured, their Factors, Servants, and Assigns, to sue, labor, and travel for, in, and about the Defense, Safeguard, and Recovery of the said Ship, etc., or any part thereof, without prejudice to this Insurance to the Charges whereof the Assurers will contribute according to the Rate and Quantity of the sum herein assured. And it is expressly declared and agreed that no act of the Insurer or Insured in recovering, saving or preserving the property insured shall be considered as a waiver or acceptance of abandonment.

This insurance also specially to cover (subject to the free of average warranty) loss of, or damage to hull or machinery, through the negligence of Master, Charterers, Mariners, Engineers, or Pilots, or through explosions, bursting of boilers, breakage of shafts, or through any latent defect in the machinery or hull, provided such loss or damage has not resulted from want of due diligence by the Owners of the Ship, or any of them, or by the Manager. Masters, Mates, Engineers, Pilots, or Crew not to be considered as part owners within the meaning of this clause should they hold shares in the steamer.

And it is further agreed, that if the Ship hereby insured shall come into collision with any other Ship or Vessel, and the Assured or Charterers shall in consequence thereof become liable to pay, and shall pay by way of damages to any other person or persons any sum or sums not exceeding in respect of any one such collision the value of the Ship hereby Insured, we, the Assurers, will pay the Assured or Charterers such proportion of such sum or sums so paid as our subscriptions hereto bear to the value of the Ship hereby Insured. And in cases where the liability of the Ship has been contested with the consent in writing of a majority of the Underwriters on the hull and/or machinery (in amount) we will also pay a like proportion of the costs thereby incurred or paid; but when both Vessels are to blame, then, unless the liability of the Owners or Charterers of one or both of such Vessels becomes limited by law, claims under the Collision Clause shall be settled on the principle of Cross-Liabilities as if the Owners or Charterers of each Vessel had been compelled to pay to the Owners or Charterers of the other of such Vessels such one-half or other proportion of the latter's damages as may have been properly allowed in ascertaining the balance or sum payable by or to the Assured or Charterers in consequence of such collision; and it is further agreed that the principles involved in this clause shall apply to the case where both Vessels are the property, in part or in whole, of the same Owners or Charterers, all questions of responsibility and amount of liability as between the two ships being left to the decision of a single Arbitrator, if the parties can agree upon a single Arbitrator, or failing such agreement, to the decision of Arbitrators, one to be appointed by the managing Owners or Charterers of both Vessels, and one to be appointed by the majority (in amount) of Underwriters interested in each Vessel; the two Arbitrators chosen to choose a third Arbitrator before entering upon the reference, and the decision of such single, or of any two of such three Arbitrators, appointed as above to be final and binding. Provided always that this clause shall in no case extend to any sum which the Assured or Charterers may become liable to pay, or shall pay for removal of obstructions under statutory powers, for injury to harbors, wharves, piers, stages, and similar structures, consequent on such collision, or in respect of the cargo or engagements of the Insured Vessel, or for loss of life, or personal injury. And provided also that in the event of any claim being made by Charterers under this clause they shall not be entitled to recover in respect of any liability to which the Owners of the Ship, if interested in this Policy at the time of the Collision in question, would not be subject, nor to a greater extent than the Shipowners would be entitled in such event to recover.

And it is further agreed that in the event of salvage, towage, or other assistance being rendered to the Vessel hereby insured by any Vessel belonging in part or in whole to the same Owners or Charterers, the value of such services (without regard to the common ownership of the Vessels) shall be ascertained by arbitration in the manner above provided for under the Collision Clause, and the amount so awarded so far as applicable to the interest hereby insured shall constitute a charge under this Policy.

General Average and Salvage Charges payable in accordance with York-Antwerp Rules, 1890, if so provided for in the contract of affreightment. As regards matters not provided for in the York-Antwerp Rules, 1890 (when the contract of affreightment provides for such rules), and also when the contract of affreightment does not provide for such rules, General Average and Salvage Charges shall be payable in accordance with the laws and usages of the United States. Provided always that when an adjustment according to the laws and usages of the port of destination is properly demanded by the owners of the cargo, General Average shall be paid in accordance with same.

No claim shall be allowed in respect of scraping or painting the Vessel's bottom except as provided in Rule of Practice VIII of the Association of Average Adjusters of the United States.

Grounding in the Panama Canal or in the Suez Canal or in the Manchester Ship Canal or its connections, or in the River Mersey above Rock Ferry Slip, or in the River Plate (above Buenos Aires) or its tributaries, or in the Danube, Demerara, or Bilbao River or on the Yenikale or Bilbao Bar, shall not be deemed a stranding.

Average payable on each valuation separately or on the whole, without deduction of thirds, new for old, whether the average be particular or general.

In no case shall Underwriters be liable for unrepaired damage in addition to a subsequent total loss sustained during the term covered by this Policy.

In ascertaining whether the Vessel is a constructive total loss the insured value shall be taken as the repaired value, and nothing in respect of the damaged or break-up value of the vessel or wreck shall be taken into account.

In the event of total or constructive total loss, no claim to be made by the Underwriters for freight, whether notice of abandonment has been given or not.

Notwithstanding anything herein contained to the contrary, this Policy is warranted free from particular average under 3 per cent, or unless amounting to $4,850, but nevertheless when the Vessel shall have been stranded, sunk, on fire, or in collision with any other Ship or Vessel, Underwriters shall pay the damage occasioned thereby, and the expense of sighting the bottom after stranding shall be paid, if reasonably incurred, even if no damage be found.

The warranty and conditions as to average under 3 per cent to be applicable to each voyage as if separately insured, and a voyage shall be deemed to commence at one of the following periods to be selected by the Assured when making up the claim, viz., at any time at which the Vessel (1) begins to load cargo or (2) sails in ballast to a loading port. Such voyage shall be deemed to continue during the ensuing period until either she has made one outward and one homeward passage (including an intermediate ballast passage, if made) or has carried and discharged two cargoes, whichever may first happen, and further, in either case, until she begins to load a subsequent cargo or sails in ballast for a loading port. When the Vessel sails in ballast to effect damage repair, such sailing shall not be deemed to be a sailing for a loading port although she loads at the repairing port. In calculating the 3 per cent above referred to, particular average occurring outside the period covered by this Policy may be added to particular average occurring within such period, provided it occur upon the same voyage (as above defined), but only that portion of the claim arising within such period shall be recoverable hereon. The commencement of a voyage shall not be so fixed as to overlap another voyage on which a claim is made on this or the preceding Policy.

Should the Vessel at the expiration of this Policy be at sea, or in distress, or at a port of refuge or of call, she shall, provided previous notice be given to the Underwriters, be held covered at a pro rata monthly premium to her port of destination.

Should the Vessel be sold or transferred to other ownership, then, unless the Underwriters agree in writing to such sale or transfer, this Policy shall thereupon become cancelled from date of sale or transfer, unless the Vessel has cargo on board and has already sailed from her loading port, or is at sea in ballast, in either of which cases such cancellation shall be suspended until arrival at final port of discharge if with cargo, or at port of destination if in ballast. A pro rata daily return of premium shall be made.

Notwithstanding anything herein contained to the contrary, this policy is warranted free of capture, seizure, arrest, restraint, or detainment, and the consequences thereof or of any attempt thereat (piracy excepted) and also from all consequences of hostilities or warlike operations, whether before or after declaration of war.

To return { per cent for each uncommenced month if it be mutually agreed to cancel this Policy. per cent for each consecutive days the Vessel may be laid up in port:— } and arrival.

A period in port falling between two insurances to be allowed pro rata on each, underwriters on each insurance agreeing to pay their pro rata proportion of the Return due.

In the event of accident whereby loss or damage may result in a claim under this Policy, notice shall be given to the Underwriters, where practicable, prior to survey, so that they may appoint their own Surveyor if they so desire; and whenever the extent of the damage is ascertainable, the majority (in amount) of the Underwriters may take or may require the Assured to take tenders for the repair of such damage. In cases where a tender is accepted by or with the approval of Underwriters, the Underwriters will make an allowance at the rate of 30 per cent per annum on the insured value for the time actually lost in waiting for tenders. In the event of the Assured failing to comply with the conditions of this clause, 15 per cent shall be deducted from the amount of the ascertained claim.

Held covered in case of any breach of warranty as to cargo, trade, locality, or date of sailing, provided notice be given, and any additional premium required be agreed immediately after receipt of advices of breach or proposed breach by owners.

Where the Assured has paid, or is liable for, any General Average contribution and the contributory value is greater than the insured value, the amount recoverable under this policy shall be only in the proportion that the amount insured hereunder bears to the contributory value and where the contributory value has been reduced by a Particular Average for which these Assurers are liable, the amount of Particular Average Claim under this policy shall be deducted from the amount insured under this policy in order to ascertain what share of the contribution is recoverable from these Assurers; the extent of the liability of these Assurers for salvage shall be computed on the same principle.

In event of non-payment of premium thirty days after attachment this policy may be cancelled by the Assurers upon five days' written notice being given the Assured.

No recovery for a Constructive Total Loss shall be had hereunder, unless the expense of recovering and repairing the vessel shall exceed the insured value.

In witness whereof, the said United States Lloyds, Inc., has caused this Policy to be signed by its President, but it shall not be valid until countersigned by Appleton & Cox, Attorneys.

GENERAL AND PARTICULAR AVERAGE.

In marine insurance the term "Particular Average" is understood as meaning damage or loss, either to a vessel or to a cargo and freight, which is purely accidental in its nature, while the term "General Average" represents either some voluntary sacrifice, while in a dangerous position, of either the ship's materials or of cargo and freight, or expenditure incurred for the general benefit of the ship, freight and cargo. The principle involved in General Average is that parties interested in the ship, freight and cargo should bear proportionately the expense for sacrifice incurred during a time of peril for the general good. The English law defines certain of the principal items of General Average, classifying them under the two general divisions of sacrifices and expenditures. In general, it is said that the practice prevailing at the port where the insurance terminates governs the adjustment of any loss, and many charter parties and bills of lading, etc., now contain a provision that General Average shall be adjusted according to York-Antwerp rules. The following are the more important items of sacrifices and expenditures listed under the English law:

SACRIFICES.

I.—Loss of Cargo and Freight and Damage to Cargo.

1. Loss of cargo and freight by jettison from under deck.
2. Loss of cargo and freight by jettison from the deck, when it can be shown that it is the invariable and well-known custom of the trade in which the vessel is at the time engaged to carry deck cargo.
3. Damage to cargo by water during jettison, or damage necessarily occasioned to cargo through jettison.
4. Damage done to packages of cargo which have themselves not been on fire, by water or other means used to extinguish fire on board.
5. Loss of cargo, and freight on cargo burnt as fuel for a steamer for general safety (where the original supply of coal on board the steamer was ample, with a fair margin, for the passage or part of passage on which the steamer was at the time engaged).
6. Loss of cargo, and freight on cargo burnt for fuel for donkey engine for pumping (on same consideration as cargo burnt for fuel for steamer).
7. Damage to or loss of cargo and or freight discharged or otherwise dealt with to float a vessel when stranded and in a position of peril and of subsequent reshipment.
8. Damage to or loss of cargo and freight in the act of discharge of cargo to lighten a ship in a port of refuge.
9. Damage to or loss of cargo and freight in the act of reshipment of cargo discharged in a port of refuge; only when the vessel put into the port to repair damage which is itself the consequence of a General Average act.

II.—Ships' Materials.

10. Masts, spars, sails, or rigging out away for the common safety.
11. Chains and anchors slipped from.
12. Damage to sails set to force a stranded ship off the ground, or to force her further on the ground for better safety.
13. Damage to ropes, winches, windlasses, boats, etc., used in the endeavor to float a stranded ship if in peril.
14. Damage to a steamer's machinery incurred in the endeavor to float a stranded ship when in a position of peril.
15. Coals and engine stores used in this endeavor.
16. Damage done to a ship in the endeavor to extinguish a fire, or to facilitate jettison.

EXPENDITURES.

17. Expenses incurred in floating a stranded ship if in peril.
18. Cost of salvage of ship cargo, either when picked up at sea, with or without agreement, or salved under contract when ashore.

(N. B.—The division of these expenses is not always on the same footing as an ordinary General Average, the values used being sometimes different.)

19. Inward expenses entering a port of refuge to repair damage.
20. Cost of discharging cargo at a port of refuge for the purpose of repairing the damage.
21. Cost of warehousing, warehouse rent on cargo, reshipment of cargo and outward expenses leaving the port of refuge; only when the cause of the vessel putting into port has been to repair damage which is itself the consequence of a General Average act.

The York-Antwerp Rules differ from English practice, chiefly in that jettison of deckload and freight thereon are not allowed as General Average, and that in addition to the expense at a port of refuge, inward charges and cost of discharging cargo, reshipping and outward expenses and wages and provisions of officers and crew, detention in the port of refuge and damage to cargo caused in the act of reshipment, are allowed in General Average.

THE YORK-ANTWERP RULES.

The following rules were the outgrowth of meetings of delegates from different countries at York in 1864, when rules were formulated which did not obtain general adoption, and a meeting at Antwerp in 1877, when such rules were amended, and have since been known as the York-Antwerp Rules:

RULE I.—JETTISON OF DECK CARGO.

No jettison of deck cargo shall be made good as general average.

Every structure not built in with the frame of the vessel shall be considered to be a part of the deck of the vessel.

RULE II.—DAMAGE BY JETTISON AND SACRIFICE FOR THE COMMON SAFETY.

Damage done to a ship and cargo, or either of them, by or in consequence of a sacrifice made for the common safety, and by water which goes down a ship's hatches opened, or other opening made, for the purpose of making a jettison for the common safety, shall be made good as general average.

RULE III.—EXTINGUISHING FIRE ON SHIPBOARD.

Damage done to a ship and cargo, or either of them, by water or otherwise, including damage by beaching or scuttling a burning ship, in extinguishing a fire on board the ship, shall be made good as general average; except that no compensation shall be made for damage to such portions of the ship and bulk cargo, or to such separate packages of cargo, as have been on fire.

RULE IV.—CUTTING AWAY WRECK.

Loss or damage caused by cutting away the wreck or remains of spars or of other things which ve previously been carried away by sea peril shall not be made good as general average.

RULE V.—VOLUNTARY STRANDING.

When a ship is intentionally run on shore and the circumstances are such that if that course were not adopted she would inevitably sink or drive on shore or on rocks, no loss or damage caused to the ship, cargo and freight, or any of them, by such intentional running on shore, shall be made good as general average. But in all other cases where a ship is intentionally run on shore for the common safety, the consequent loss or damage shall be allowed as general average.

RULE VI.—CARRYING PRESS OF SAIL. DAMAGE TO OR LOSS OF SAILS.

Damage to or loss of sails and spars, or either of them, caused by forcing a ship off the ground or by driving her higher up the ground, for the common safety, shall be made good as general average; but where a ship is afloat, no loss or damage caused to the ship, cargo and freight, or any of them by carrying a press of sail shall be made good as general average.

RULE VII.—DAMAGE TO ENGINES IN REFLOATING A SHIP.

Damage caused to machinery and boilers of a ship which is ashore and in a position of peril, in endeavoring to refloat, shall be allowed in general average when shown to have arisen from an actual intention to float the ship for the common safety at the risk of such damage.

RULE VIII.—EXPENSES OF LIGHTENING A SHIP WHEN ASHORE AND CONSEQUENT DAMAGE.

When a ship is ashore and, in order to float her, cargo, bunker coals and ship's stores, or any of them, are discharged, the extra cost of lightening, lighter hire, and reshipping, if incurred), and the loss or damage sustained thereby, shall be admitted as general average.

RULE IX.—CARGO, SHIP'S MATERIALS AND STORES BURNT FOR FUEL.

Cargo, ship's materials, and stores, or any of them, necessarily burnt for fuel for the common safety at a time of peril, shall be admitted as general average when, and only when, an ample supply of fuel has been provided; but the estimated quantity of coals that would have been consumed, calculated at the price current at the ship's last port of departure at the date of her leaving, shall be charged to the shipowner and credited to the general average.

RULE X.—EXPENSES AT PORT OF REFUGE, ETC.

Expenses at Port of Refuge, etc.

(a) When a ship shall have entered a port or place of refuge, or shall have returned to her port or place of loading in consequence of accident, sacrifice, or other extraordinary circumstances, which render that necessary for the common safety, the expenses of entering such port or place shall be admitted as general average; and when she shall have sailed thence with her original cargo, or a part of it, the corresponding expenses of leaving such port or place, consequent upon such entry or return, shall likewise be admitted as general average.

(b) The cost of discharging cargo from a ship, whether at a port or place of loading, call, or refuge, shall be admitted as general average, when the discharge was necessary for the common safety or to enable damage to the ship, caused by sacrifice or accident during the voyage, to be repaired, if the repairs were necessary for the safe prosecution of the voyage.

(c) Whenever the cost of discharging cargo from a ship is admissible as general average, the cost of reloading and storing such cargo on board the said ship, together with all storage charges on such cargo, shall likewise be so admitted. But when the ship is condemned, or does not proceed on her original voyage, no storage expenses incurred after the date of the ship's condemnation or of the abandonment of the voyage, shall be admitted as general average.

(d) If a ship under average be in a port or place at which it is practicable to repair her, so as to enable her to carry on the whole cargo, and if in order to save expenses, either she is towed thence to some other port or place of repair or to her destination, or the cargo or a portion of it is transhipped by another ship, or otherwise forwarded, then the extra cost of such towage, transhipment and forwarding, or any of them (up to the amount of the extra expense saved), shall be payable by the several parties to the adventure in proportion to the extraordinary expense saved.

RULE XI.—WAGES AND MAINTENANCE OF CREW IN PORT OF REFUGE, ETC.

When a ship shall have entered or been detained in any port or place under the circumstances, or for the purpose of the repairs, mentioned in Rule X., the wages payable to the master, officers and crew, together with the cost of maintenance of the same, during the extra period of detention in such port or place, until the ship shall or should have been made ready to proceed upon her voyage, shall be admitted as general average. But when the ship is condemned or does not proceed on her original voyage, the wages and maintenance of the master, officers and crew incurred after the date of the ship's condemnation or of the abandonment of the voyage, shall not be admitted as general average.

RULE XII.—DAMAGE TO CARGO IN DISCHARGING, ETC.

Damage done to or loss of cargo necessarily caused in the act of discharging, storing, reloading and stowing, shall be made good as general average, when and only when the cost of those measures respectfully is admitted as general average.

RULE XIII.—DEDUCTIONS FROM COST OF REPAIRS.

In adjusting claims for general average, repairs to be allowed in general average shall be subject to the following deductions in respect of "new for old," viz.:

In the case of iron or steel ships from date of original register to the date of accident—

Up to 1 Year Old (A)—All repairs to be allowed in full, except painting or coating of bottom, from which one-third to be deducted.

Between 1 and 3 Years (B)—One-third to be deducted off repairs to and renewal of woodwork of hull, masts and spars, furniture, upholstery, crockery, metal and glassware; also sails, rigging, ropes, sheets and hawsers (other than wire and chain), awnings, covers and painting; one-sixth to be deducted off wire rigging, wire ropes and wire hawsers, chain cables and chains, donkey engines, steam winches and connections; other repairs in full.

Between 3 and 6 Years (C)—Deductions as above under Clause (B), except that one-sixth be deducted off ironwork of masts and spars, and machinery (inclusive of boilers and their mountings).

Between 6 and 10 Years (D)—Deductions as above under Clause (C), except that one-third be deducted off ironwork of masts and spars, repairs to and renewal of all machinery (inclusive of boilers and their mountings), and all hawsers, ropes, sheets and rigging.

Between 10 and 15 Years (E)—One-third to be deducted off all repairs and renewals, except iron-work of hull and cementing and chain cables, from which one-sixth to be deducted; anchors to be allowed in full.

Over 15 Years (F)—One-third to be deducted off all repairs and renewals, anchors to be allowed in full; one-sixth to be deducted off chain cables.

Generally (G)—The deductions (except as to provisions and stores, machinery and boilers) to be regulated by the age of the ship, and not the age of the particular part of her to which they apply; no painting bottom to be allowed if the bottom has not been painted within six months previous to the date of accident; no deduction to be made in respect of old material which is repaired without being replaced by new, and provisions and stores which have not been in use.

In case of wooden or composite ships: When a ship is under one year old from date of original register, at the time of accident, no deduction new for old shall be made. After that period a deduction of one-third shall be made, with the following exceptions:

Anchors shall be allowed in full; chain cables shall be subject to a deduction of one-sixth only.

No deduction shall be made in respect of provisions and stores which had not been in use.

Metal sheathing shall be dealt with by allowing in full the cost of a weight equal to be the gross weight of metal sheathing stripped off, minus the proceeds of the old metal. Nails, felt and labor metalling are subject to a deduction of one-third.

In the case of ships generally: In the case of all ships, the expense of straightening bent iron-work, including labor of taking out and replacing it, shall be allowed in full.

Graving dock dues, including expenses of renewals, cartages, use of shears, stages, and graving dock materials, shall be allowed in full.

RULE XIV.—TEMPORARY REPAIRS.

No deductions "new for old" shall be made from the cost of temporary repairs of damage allowable as general average.

RULE XV.—LOSS OF FREIGHT.

Loss of freight arising from damage to or loss of cargo shall be made good as general average, either when caused by a general average act, or when the damage to or loss of cargo is so made good.

RULE XVI.—AMOUNT TO BE MADE GOOD FOR CARGO LOST OR DAMAGED BY SACRIFICE.

The amount to be made good as general average for damage or loss of goods sacrificed shall be the loss which the owner of the goods has sustained thereby, based on the market values at the date of the arrival of the vessel or at the termination of the adventure.

RULE XVII.—CONTRIBUTORY VALUES.

The contribution to a general average shall be made upon the actual values of the property at the termination of the adventure, to which shall be added the amount made good as general average for property sacrificed; deduction being made from the shipowner's freight and passage money at risk of such port charges and crew's wages as would not have been incurred had the ship and cargo been totally lost at the date of the general average act or sacrifice, and have not been allowed as general average; deduction being also made from the value of the property of all charges incurred in respect thereof subsequently to the general average act, except such charges as are allowed in general average. Passengers' luggage and personal effects, not shipped under bill of lading, shall not contribute to general average.

RULE XVIII.—ADJUSTMENT.

Except as provided in the foregoing rules, the adjustment shall be drawn up in accordance with the law and practice that would have governed the adjustment had the contract of affreightment not contained a clause to pay general average according to these rules.
